1.1. HISTORY

Founding
On March 3, 1891, Hugh Cale, an African-American representative in the N.C. General Assembly from Pasquotank County, sponsored House Bill 383, which established a normal (teaching) school for “teaching and training teachers of the colored race to teach in the common schools of North Carolina.” The bill passed, and the origin of Elizabeth City State University was born. The institution's first name was Elizabeth City State Colored Normal School (1891-1939).

Early Leadership
The first leader, Peter W. Moore, was called a Principal (subsequent leaders would be called President, then Chancellor). Moore served as Principal and then President until his retirement as President, Emeritus, on July 1, 1928. During his tenure, enrollment increased from 23 to 355 and the faculty from two to 15 members. During the tenure of the second president, John Henry Bias, the institution was elevated from a two-year normal school to a four-year teachers college (1937). Two years later, the institution’s name was officially changed to Elizabeth City State Teachers College (1939-1963). The growth and elevation to teachers college changed the mission to include training elementary school principals for rural and city schools. The first Bachelor of Science degrees in elementary education were awarded in May of 1939.

Continued Growth
Between 1959 and 1963, the institution became more than a teaching college, adding 11 academic majors to the original elementary education major. In 1961, the college joined the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools accrediting group (SACS) and maintains its accreditation with that body to the present. In 1963, the N.C. General Assembly changed the institution’s name from Elizabeth City State Teachers College to Elizabeth City State College (1963-1969) and on, July 1, 1969, the college became Elizabeth City State University. In 1971, the General Assembly redefined the University of North Carolina system with 16 public institutions, including ECSU. Together, those institutions became constituents of The University of North Carolina (July 1972).
Today: Academics

Currently ECSU offers 31 academic programs of study. From business to music to aviation and education, ECSU prepares students to compete in the global work force. We achieve our commitment to the highest quality education by maintaining a rigorous focus on academic excellence through liberal arts programs and using innovative and flexible technology-based instruction models to enhance our signature areas: integrating technology with education, improving human health and wellness, and advancing the natural and aviation sciences. As of May 2018, undergraduate and/or graduate degrees have been conferred upon more than 20,000 students.

Today: Rankings

Over the years, the university fared well among publications that rank institutions. ECSU has earned national acclaim for its advancements: U.S. News and World Report ranked ECSU as the #3 Top Public School in the Regional College South for its 2020 Best Colleges list, #7 for Top Performers in Social Mobility, #26 for Best Regional College South, and #28 Historically Black Colleges and Universities. Washington Monthly ranked ECSU #13 Best Bang for the Buck School (2019). Best Historically Black Colleges ranked ECSU #6 (2020). CollegeNET, Inc. ranked ECSU #7 for Social Mobility Innovator (2019). ECSU was ranked a Top 5 Military Friendly® School for small public institutions (2020-21). Military Times ranked ECSU 84th in the nation for Best Bet for Vets among 134 universities (2020).

On December 14, 2018, Dr. Karrie G. Dixon was named 12th Chief Executive Officer and 7th Chancellor of Elizabeth City State University.

CHAPTER 4: FACULTY RESPONSIBILITIES

4.1 GENERAL STATEMENT ON FACULTY RESPONSIBILITIES

Elizabeth City State University is an institution that promotes higher learning. Necessary in the pursuit of this ideal is academic freedom, which is itself essential towards discovery, inquiry, creativity, and scholarship. Empowered with this freedom, faculty seek to contribute to this environment by exemplifying excellence in teaching, research, and service. University policies and procedures exist to ensure academic freedom for its faculty and students; these policies help ensure an atmosphere of unfettered inquiry and reflect a high regard for open discussion and the free expression of ideas (UNC-SO, The Code, Section 601, 100.1). All members of the university community share the responsibility for maintaining an environment in which academic freedom flourishes free from internal or external restraints. Part of this responsibility includes respecting the rights of each member of the academic community as they seek their own individual academic pursuits.

Faculty have full freedom, within the law, of inquiry, discourse, teaching, research and publication. In possessing this freedom, they should value accuracy, forthrightness, and dignity as qualities of scholarship that befit their association with the university and their positions as scholars. That said, they should not represent themselves without authorization as spokespersons for the University of North Carolina or Elizabeth City State University. ECSU shall not penalize or discipline faculty members because they exercise their academic freedom in the lawful pursuit of their respective areas of scholarly and professional interest and responsibility (300.2.1, Policy Manual).

The exercise of academic freedom implies specific faculty responsibilities. Faculty have the following responsibilities:

- to pursue excellence, intellectual honesty, and professionalism in conducting research, teaching, extension/outreach, and public and institutional service;
- to discuss, as educators, ideas consistent with the discipline and professional expertise;
- to maintain professional competence and relevance by engaging in professional development;
- to encourage students and colleagues to engage in intellectual discourse and inquiry;
• to evaluate student and colleague performance and achievement on a scholarly, and not on a personal, basis;
• to differentiate official duties as faculty and public servants from personal activities as citizens; and
• to maintain the highest standards of integrity in the discharge of duties, responsibilities, personal and professional interactions, and professional relationships.

4.2 ATTENDANCE AT REQUIRED EVENTS
All full-time faculty members are required to participate in both Fall and Spring Commencement, the annual convocation in observance of Founder’s Day, as well as other university convocations, as deemed necessary. Moreover, faculty are expected to participate dressed in full academic regalia. Taking such traditionally significant events seriously communicates their importance to students, parents, alumni, and friends of Elizabeth City State University. In addition, full-time faculty members are also expected to participate in Faculty Institute, as well as University Honors observance. Request for absence from required activities must be submitted and approved in advance. Faculty should consult with their Department Chair regarding the process in effect for these requests.

4.3 ATTENDANCE AT OTHER UNIVERSITY SPONSORED EVENTS
Faculty and staff are encouraged to support the student body as well as their colleagues by attending university sponsored events and functions. Although attendance at the numerous scheduled academic, cultural, athletic, social and special category events is not mandatory and not always possible, due to scheduling conflicts, attendance nevertheless is highly valued and appreciated. Moreover, it lets the rest of the ECSU community know that faculty members value the efforts of their students, as well as those of their fellow faculty and staff colleagues. Each year the university hosts any number of recitals, intercollegiate athletic competitions, awards ceremonies, events sponsored by Greek organizations, contemporaneous performances, lectures, and presentations by students, faculty and visiting professionals. These exhibitions enhance the mission of the institution. By attending these, faculty members are setting a good example, and are letting students know that the education they may receive at Elizabeth City State University goes beyond the time they may spend in a classroom or put forth towards completing degree requirements.
4.4 TEACHING LOADS

Faculty members are expected and required to meet all classes to which they are assigned on the day, time and place indicated on the class schedule. Any deviations must be justified and must receive prior approval of the appropriate department chair and dean.

In accordance with the Delaware Study and the Carnegie Classification of ECSU as a Baccalaureate (Liberal Arts) I institution, the standard undergraduate faculty teaching workload is eight (8) courses / twenty-four (24) credits per academic year. Any deviation that would result in a faculty member teaching less than the normal load so described above must receive prior approval from the office of the Provost/Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs.

On rare occasion, faculty members may be assigned a maximum of fifteen (15) hours by the department chair if this does not result in an Overload Teaching Assignment for the academic year. In cases where this occurs, a compensatory reduction in load will occur in the next semester or other compensation as detailed in the ECSU Faculty Overload Teaching Policy 300.1.15. In accordance with that policy, faculty are not obligated to accept an overload teaching assignment (more than 24 credits per academic year).

Teaching, the most important duty of any faculty member, is only part of the faculty member’s larger workload of research, scholarship, service, and administration. Assigned credit hours will not be used as the sole determining factor for faculty workload. The instructional load for individual faculty members will vary from the Standard Faculty Teaching Workload depending on the nature of the faculty member's appointment: e.g., responsibilities in teaching, research, service and administration.

4.4.1 Distance and Continuing Education

Distance Education at Elizabeth City State University provides a critical service to all students by extending convenient access to course offerings using the internet. Some degree programs are offered completely online. Distance Education especially appeals to students isolated from campus due to time and/or geographic location. Faculty members who desire to offer courses that are strictly Distance Learning are required to successfully complete training courses in order to receive Quality Matters™ certification. These professional development courses are offered on campus and sometimes on a remote basis. Many faculty members who teach face-to-face courses maintain active Blackboard shells for their courses, so students may access course materials remotely. Distance Education is one way the University prepares its students for the real world, as mastery of technology has become a critical skill in the workplace.

Continuing Education at Elizabeth City State University is committed to contributing to the mission of the University by providing a variety of continuing education opportunities and special activities geared toward the professional and personal development needs of its constituents. Continuing Education utilizes the University’s educational resources to offer lifelong learning experiences that provide continuing education credits to non-traditional audiences.

4.4.2 Summer School
Faculty may choose to obligate themselves outside their contract period to teach summer courses and receive supplemental pay as long as the supplemental pay does not exceed the monthly maximum of the base salary divided by the number of months in the contract period for the academic year. The normal teaching load for faculty during Summer Session is 12 (12) hours or four (4) courses. Faculty should consult with their Department Chair if they are interested in teaching during the summer session.

4.4.3 Graduate Faculty Teaching Load
In accordance with the ECSU Graduate Faculty Policy 300.2.2.1 and the ECSU Graduate Faculty Overload Teaching Policy 300.2.2.2, the standard teaching workload for graduate faculty members teaching only graduate courses is six (6) courses / eighteen (18) credit hours per academic year. The standard teaching workload for graduate faculty members teaching a combination of graduate and undergraduate courses is seven (7) courses / twenty-one (21) credit hours per academic year.

4.4.4 Instructional Procedures
- Ordering Textbooks – Textbooks are ordered online using the Follett Discover system. The link to this system is in the Blackboard course management system. Textbook selections are approved by Department Chairpersons. The campus utilizes a textbook rental system that requires texts to be used for three academic years if used in both the Fall and Spring semesters, or four academic years if only used once per academic year. Supplemental materials, including lab books, websites, and secondary texts, can be included in the textbook rental. Faculty should consult with their Department Chair concerning the departmental process regarding textbook selection.

- Course Evaluations - Courses and instructors are evaluated by students each semester on instruments sent to departmental chairs by the Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. Students enrolled in online courses receive course evaluations from the Office of Institutional Research, Effectiveness and Assessment in collaboration with the Office of Distance Education. The course evaluations are used as part of the faculty annual evaluation process.

- Supplies and Equipment – Faculty members should work closely with the Department Chair to order office and instructional supplies.

- Copyright Materials - ECSU’s copyright procedures (Policy Manual 900.1.1) apply to faculty, staff and students. Faculty and staff must comply with the procedures as a condition of employment. Faculty members need to be aware of copyright protection when using classroom materials. Faculty, staff and students shall not utilize a copyrighted work without permission of the copyright owner except as permitted by law. The “fair use doctrine” is a means under copyright law that allows for limited use of copyrighted work without requiring the prior permission of the copyright holder. ECSU supports the responsible, good faith exercise of full fair use rights, as codified in 17 U.S.C. § 107, by faculty, librarians, and staff in furtherance of their instruction research, and service activities. The four fair use factors are:
  - the character and purpose of the proposed use;
  - the nature of the work to be used;
  - the amount and substantiality of the portion to be used; and
  - the effect on the market or potential market for the work.

Questions concerning the determination of “fair use” can be referred to the ECSU Office of Legal Affairs (legalaffairs@ecsu.edu)

4.4.5 Teaching for Other Institutions and Outside Employment

A full-time faculty member desiring to teach courses for another institution, while under full time contract to Elizabeth City State University, must receive prior approval from the office of the Provost/Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. Before a recommendation is made to the office of the Provost/Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, approval must be obtained from the department chair, and dean using the Secondary Employment Form. This process should also be followed for full-time faculty who desire to work for other agencies. Secondary employment should not interfere with the duties and responsibilities related to employment at Elizabeth City State University, the faculty member’s primary employer (Policy Manual 200.1.13).

All faculty members are indeed subject to policies concerning conflicts of interest and conflicts of commitment affecting ECSU employment and external professional activities. These policies are based on policies and guidelines adopted by the UNC Board of Governors, federal and state law, and federal agency sponsor requirements (ECSU Policy Manual, 300.4.1.7, amended 4/14/2020).

4.4.6 Research

In order to continue their professional growth, faculty members are responsible for planning, designing, and implementing research projects in their fields, for publishing the results of their research, for participating in professional organizations and meetings, and for seeking and finding appropriate funding for their projects. Although Elizabeth City State University is primarily a teaching institution, research, scholarly, and creative activities help promote a better teaching environment, since they help keep faculty members informed about current research trends in their teaching areas. Faculty members are encouraged to take interest in student research, to encourage students to engage in their own research and scholarly activities, and to share their own research efforts with their students.

4.5 UNIVERSITY SERVICE, MEETINGS, AND COMMUNITY SERVICE

4.5.1 University Service

As part of their responsibility to shared governance, faculty members are expected to contribute service to their department, school, university, and the community at large. In doing so, faculty members are not only maintaining, promoting, and enhancing the life and climate of the academic environment, but are also seeking to broaden the impact of the institution to communities outside of the campus proper. All faculty members are to contribute and serve on department, school, and university-wide committees. A faculty member may be appointed, elected, or volunteer to serve on committees. When elected or appointed to serve, or when one has volunteered, attendance at all meetings of that committee is required except for emergencies and unavoidable conflicts.

4.5.2 Meetings
All faculty members are required to attend department, school, university, and general faculty meetings. Persons unable to attend scheduled meetings should notify the appropriate department chair or unit head prior to the time of the meeting. The faculty member should not assume that notifying the chair of an upcoming absence necessarily means that the absence will be excused.

The Faculty Senate has determined a meeting schedule that allows all departmental, school, and university-wide committees to meet without conflicts. Faculty attendance at Faculty Senate meetings is not required but is strongly encouraged, out of the principle that the Faculty Senate does its best work when faculty actively participate in its proceedings.

4.5.3 Community Service
A part of the mission of Elizabeth City State University is to promote active engagement in community service and activities by its faculty. Faculty members traditionally have engaged in active community service, often volunteering to serve in schools, civic organizations, churches, or youth organizations. All faculty members are expected to contribute service to their community. Faculty are encouraged to provide service according to their interests, abilities, and expertise.

4.6 STUDENT ADVISEMENT AND OFFICE HOURS

4.6.1 Advisement
Academic advising is a top priority at ECSU. All students must be advised prior to registration each semester by their academic advisor. The academic advising model at ECSU is a split model design with professional academic advisors supporting students in their first year. Students transition to a faculty advising model in the second year until graduation. Professional advisors are hired specifically to support academic advising practices, policies and technologies while helping first year student’s transition into their new collegiate environment. Faculty advisors are trained specifically on academic advisement policies, practices and technology to support their assigned students within their discipline. Every faculty member is required to attend an Academic Advisement workshop prior to advising students. The Master Faculty Advisor Council, consisting of 1-2 Master Advisors in each department, assists new faculty advisors and helps to address any academic advisement concerns a faculty may have.

The relationship between academic advisors and advisees is essential to each student’s academic success and contributes greatly to student retention and graduation rates. Academic advisors meet with students during orientation and preregistration to provide guidance for course scheduling and when students need advice in planning individual programs of study. Faculty advisors support transfer students during orientation advising sessions during summer and winter. Faculty advisors also play a significant role in the review and submission of student applications for graduation. Furthermore, faculty members should always be aware of the ongoing needs of students in their classes and to contact them, as need be.

As documentation of advising is essential, faculty are required to maintain advising records using the E4U software system. Training in the use of the software is provided to new faculty during their first academic year. In applying for graduate school, fellowships, scholarships, employment, or other competitive ventures requiring applications and personal references, students often count on their advisors to vouch for their ability and character. It may therefore be helpful to keep some records and reminders of student work and activities, including their participation in university activities (band, choir, athletics, drama, art, student government, etc.), for future reference. The Center for Teaching and Learning offers a variety of workshops each academic year to enhance the effectiveness of advising.

Faculty are encouraged to talk with their respective Department Chair and Program Coordinator to understand any specific advising requirements within their department or academic program.

4.6.2 Office Hours:

In order to provide students with opportunities for consultation, advice, and general contact, all faculty members must maintain regular, scheduled office hours. Full-time teaching faculty members are required to hold a minimum of ten (10) office hours per week during the academic year (300.1.19, University Policy Manual). Faculty members must notify students of their office hours by listing the hours in course syllabi, posting hours outside faculty offices, and submitting hours to departmental offices. Full-time faculty members should schedule office hours throughout business hours and on multiple business days, so all students will find a suitable time that meets their schedules.

Part-time teaching faculty members are required to hold a minimum of one (1) office hour per week for each 3-credit hour course they teach (300.1.19, University Policy Manual). As full-time faculty members do, part-time faculty must also notify students of their office hours by listing the hours in course syllabi, posting hours outside faculty offices, and submitting hours to departmental offices.

In addition to these official office hours, both full and part-time faculty members are also strongly encouraged to provide other times during which to meet with students, since working, evening and graduate students may be unable to attend regularly scheduled office hours. These additional hours may include individual and group appointments. It is good practice for faculty members to encourage students to contact them outside of business hours by email, if need be.

Faculty members should notify the department chair or administrative support associate if they are unable to meet posted office hours, and to provide an alternative time during which they will make up those missed hours, so as to ensure that the minimum requirement is being met.

4.7 FACULTY ABSENCE AND CLASS CANCELLATION POLICY

4.7.1 Faculty Absence

If a faculty member is planning to be absent from a class, faculty colleagues should be willing, in a spirit of collegiality, to fill in on a quid pro quo basis. Whenever possible, two or more courses in a subject should not be scheduled at the same time, since such conflicts would make it more difficult to find a colleague to cover another faculty member’s class.

Faculty members who are planning to be absent from class for whatever reason (scheduled medical procedure, participation and/or attendance at an academic conference, personal event, etc.) should submit a Faculty Absence Form to the department chair at least seven days before the scheduled absence. This document can be found in the Forms and Documents section of the Academic Affairs part of the university homepage. In the case of an unplanned absence due to sudden illness or some other emergency, the faculty member should notify their Program Coordinator and Department Chair as soon as possible and submit a Faculty Absence Form soon after returning to work.

Long-term absences, such as those allowed under the Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA), are discussed in the University Policy Manual.

4.7.2 Class Cancellation Policy

Except for official university closings, it is expected that all faculty members will satisfy their contractual obligations by meeting every assigned class for the entire scheduled length of time. University policy 300.1.18 addresses situations where classes may be canceled by a faculty member for legitimate reasons beyond the faculty member’s control.

Faculty are encouraged to find a guest speaker or similar to avoid cancelling a class. If a class needs to be cancelled, faculty should notify their department chair and dean. Faculty should notify students via e-mail and announcements on the Blackboard course management system and a sign should be posted at the classroom.

It is necessary to make-up the lost instructional time. This can be accomplished through a variety of means, including special class sessions, additional outside-of-class work, and through online assignments.
CHAPTER 5: FACULTY RIGHTS

5.1 FREEDOM AND RESPONSIBILITY IN THE UNIVERSITY COMMUNITY

Elizabeth City State University (ECSU), a constituent institution of the University of North Carolina, is dedicated to the transmission and advancement of knowledge and understanding. Academic freedom is essential to the achievement of these purposes; therefore, ECSU supports and encourages freedom of inquiry for faculty members. They may responsibly pursue these goals through teaching, learning, research, discussion, and publication, free from internal or external restraints that would unreasonably restrict their academic endeavors. ECSU’s Promotion and Tenure Policy has been developed pursuant to the framework established within UNC Code Chapter VI – Academic Freedom and Tenure of the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina (“The Code”), which is incorporated by reference. This policy and provisions of Chapter Six of The Code, as amended from time to time, constitute the academic promotion and tenure policies of Elizabeth City State University. This policy shall be cited in appointment and reappointment letters sent to individual faculty members.

ECSU shall support faculty in their responsible exercise of the freedom to teach, to learn, and otherwise to seek and speak the truth. The faculty of ECSU shall share in the responsibility for maintaining an environment in which academic freedom flourishes and in which the rights of each member of the academic community is respected. ECSU incorporates, as part of this policy, the principles of freedom and responsibility in the university community as set forth in The Code.

Members of the faculty are expected to recognize that accuracy, forthrightness, and dignity befit their association with the university and their position as women and men of learning. They should not represent themselves without authorization, as spokespersons for the University of North Carolina or ECSU. ECSU shall not penalize or discipline members of the faculty because of the exercise of academic freedom in the lawful pursuit of their respective areas of scholarly and professional interest and responsibility.
5.2 FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION AND SPEECH POLICY

Consistent with Article 36 of Chapter 116 of the North Carolina General Statutes, ECSU adopted Policy 900.1.10 to ensure our continuing efforts to embrace the free speech and free expression rights of the members of our campus communities.

Academic freedom, free speech and free expression are fundamental to the mission and purposes of ECSU. Students, faculty and staff share the responsibility for maintaining an environment in which free speech flourishes and in which the rights of each member of the University is respected.

Free expression guaranteed to students, faculty and staff shall also be provided to invited speakers. All invited speakers shall be allowed to present their views without “material and substantial” disruption and without “substantial interference” as those terms are defined by UNC Policy 1300.8. Students, faculty or staff who “materially and substantially disrupts” the functioning of the University, or any unit or entity of the University, or who “substantially interferes” with the protected free expression of others, will be considered to have engaged in misconduct and will be subject to the full range of disciplinary sanctions in accordance with applicable procedures consistent with UNC Policy 1300.8, and may face criminal charges under state law. The Chancellor is delegated authority to implement this policy.

5.3 ACADEMIC TENURE

In general, academic tenure serves to uphold and safeguard the academic freedom of the faculty. It also assists ECSU in recruiting and retaining faculty members of high quality. Academic tenure refers to the conditions and guarantees that attach to a faculty member’s employment, particularly the protection from involuntary discharge from, or termination of, employment, and from the imposition of serious sanctions, except on grounds and in accordance with procedures set forth in Sections 4 and 5 of the Promotion and Tenure Policy 300.2.1.1.
5.3.1 In Relation to Faculty Ranks

Tenure, as herein defined, pertains exclusively to the employment of faculty members by appointment to specified faculty ranks. Such appointments may be for fixed terms of employment, automatically terminable when they expire (fixed term appointment); or for probationary terms (probationary term appointment); or continuous until resignation, retirement, or death (appointment with tenure) or pursuant to actions in accordance with Sections 4 and 5 of the Promotion and Tenure Policy 300.2.1.1.

Departmental units are responsible for the development and publication of tenure and promotion qualifications for professional rank appropriate to the discipline or disciplines included in their department. However, in cases where departmental units have not developed guidelines for promotion and tenure or where departmental promotion and tenure guidelines are inconsistent with the guidelines set forth in this policy, promotion and tenure qualifications for rank will be governed by this policy to the extent there is a conflict. Departmental qualifications for academic rank are set forth by each department and approved by the Department Chair, the Associate Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, and the Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. In all cases, such qualifications must exceed or at minimum include the guidelines outlined in this policy.

Regular faculty appointments are those to which consideration for tenure applies and for which there is an established time frame during which a decision to reappoint or confer tenure must be made, as provided in the Promotion and Tenure Guidelines (ECSU Policy Manual, 300.2.1[G]). If exceptional circumstances warrant, this policy shall not preclude promotion or the conferral of tenure according to a time frame different from that set forth in the Promotion and Tenure Guidelines (ECSU Policy Manual, 300.2.2.1[G]).

- Instructor:

  The rank of instructor is appropriate for an individual who is appointed to the faculty lacking one or more qualifications needed for professorial rank, but in the normal course is expected to progress to the professorial rank at ECSU or another institution. The initial appointment to the rank of instructor is for a probationary term of one year. The instructor may be reappointed successively to one additional probationary one-year term. Before the end of the instructor’s first term, the department chair, in accordance with the general provisions set forth in Section 3.C. of the Promotion and Tenure policy, shall each review the instructor’s performance and recommend to the Provost/Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs either of the following:

1. that the instructor be appointed to an appropriate term as assistant professor;
2. that the individual be appointed as special faculty in accordance with;
3. that the instructor be offered a terminal appointment of one year or
4. not be reappointed.

- Assistant Professor:
  An initial appointment to the rank of assistant professor is for an initial probationary term of four years. Before the end of the third year of the four-year term as assistant professor, written notice shall be given on whether, when the current term expires, he or she will be reappointed to a second term of three years or not reappointed. Before the end of the second year of the three-year term as assistant professor, written notice shall be given on whether, when the current term expires, he/she will be reappointed with a recommendation of tenure at the same or higher rank or that upon the expiration of the three-year term of appointment, the assistant professor not be reappointed. Tenure may be conferred only by action of the president and the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina, or by such other agencies or officers as may be delegated such authority by the Board of Governors. In all instances, the tenure conferred on a faculty member is held with reference to employment by a constituent institution, rather than to employment by the University of North Carolina. The decisions herein required shall be made as provided in 300.2.1.1[G] Promotion and Tenure Guidelines.

For the purposes of tenure, promotion at any time from the rank of assistant professor to that of associate professor does not extend the time period for which a faculty member must apply and be conferred tenure. The decision and notification regarding the conferral of tenure shall not extend beyond the sixth year of service, the same year notice is required to be given by the university, following the initial appointment as an assistant professor.
• Associate Professor:

An initial appointment to the rank of associate professor may be for a probationary term of four years. Before the end of the third year of a probationary four-year term, an associate professor shall be given written notice on whether they will be recommended for reappointment with tenure at the same or higher rank or not reappointed when the current term expires. The decisions herein required shall be made as provided in 300.2.2.1[G] Promotion and Tenure Guidelines. A promotion at any time from the rank of associate professor to that of professor constitutes a recommendation for tenure from the effective date of the promotion, subject to the approval and conferral of the president and the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina, or by such other agencies or officers as may be delegated such authority by the Board of Governors. In all instances, the tenure conferred on a faculty member is held with reference to employment by the constituent institution, rather than to employment by the University of North Carolina.

• Professor:

An initial appointment to the rank of professor may be for a probationary term of three academic years. Before the end of the second year of the three-year probationary term, a professor shall be given written notice whether, when the current term expires, they will be recommended for reappointment with tenure or not be renewed at the end of the current term. The decisions shall be made in the manner provided in 300.2.2.1[G] Promotion and Tenure Guidelines. If a decision not to grant tenure is made but not communicated as herein required, the chancellor shall offer a terminal appointment of one academic year. The reappointment of professor constitutes a recommendation for tenure from the effective date of the promotion, subject to the approval and conferral of the president and the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina, or by such other agencies or officers as may be delegated such authority by the Board of Governors. In all instances, the tenure conferred on a faculty member is held with reference to employment by a constituent institution, rather than to employment by the University of North Carolina.
Special Faculty Appointments
Faculty members who are appointed to any faculty rank designation provided in paragraphs 1 through 4 of this subsection with the prefix qualifier “adjunct,” “clinical,” “visiting,” “research” or who are appointed as lecturers, artists-in-residence, writers-in-residence, or other special categories are regarded as “special faculty members” for purposes of this policy. Special faulty members are not eligible for tenure considerations or conferral of tenure and may be paid or unpaid.

Special faculty members who are paid shall be appointed for a specified term of service, as set out in writing in their letter of appointment. The term of appointment of any paid special faculty member concludes at the end of the specified period set forth in the letter of appointment, and the letter of appointment constitutes full and timely notice that a new term will not be granted when that term expires.

Special faculty members who are not paid may be appointed for a specified term of service or at will. The pay and appointment status of special faculty members will be set out in their letter of appointment.

During the term of employment, special faculty members are entitled to seek recourse under Section 607 of The Code (relating to faculty grievances). Special faculty members, whether paid or unpaid, are not covered by Section 604 of The Code, and that section does not accord them rights to additional review of a decision by ECSU not to grant a new appointment at the end of a specified fixed term. The decisions herein required shall be made as provided in Section 3.C.

5.4 INITIATION, REVIEW, AND APPROVAL OF APPOINTMENTS, PROMOTIONS, AND REAPPOINTMENTS
Each initial appointment with a fixed or probationary term, promotion in rank, reappointment to a fixed term, and reappointments of instructors, assistant professors, associate professors, or professors, whether or not the reappointment recommends the conferral of tenure, shall be initiated by recommendation of the department chairperson after consultation with the department's assembled tenured faculty. The departmental promotion and tenure committee, consisting of the department’s tenured faculty shall forward to the department chair a written recommendation on all promotions, reappointments and tenure.

The recommendations of the departmental promotion and tenure committee, chairperson shall be submitted in writing, to the provost/vice chancellor for academic affairs, who shall forward it with her/his recommendation in writing to the chancellor. If the conferral of tenure or promotion is included in the recommendation, the provost/vice chancellor for academic affairs shall consult the Faculty Personnel Committee, which will prepare a written report to the provost/vice chancellor for academic affairs regarding its recommendation.

If, after a thorough evaluation, the provost/vice chancellor for academic affairs decides not to recommend reappointment, promotion, or the conferral of tenure that decision shall be communicated in a letter to the faculty member from the provost/vice chancellor for academic affairs. If the chancellor concurs in a recommendation that will confer tenure, the recommendation shall be forwarded to the President and the Board of Governors of the University of North Carolina after consultation with the Board of Trustees and, unless dissuaded, forward the recommendation to the President of the University of North Carolina system for final approval by the Board of Governors. All other favorable recommendations by the Chancellor in regard to appointment, reappointments, and promotions shall be forwarded by the Chancellor to the Board of Trustees for final approval.

5.4.1 Terms and Conditions of Appointments

The terms and conditions of initial appointments and reappointments to the faculty shall be set out in writing. A copy of the terms, signed by the chancellor or the provost as his or her designee, shall be delivered to the faculty member, and the chancellor shall retain a copy. The general terms and conditions of such appointments, including those provided herein, shall be either set out in the document of appointment or incorporated therein by clear reference to specific documents that shall be readily available to the faculty member.

The decision not to reappoint a faculty member at the expiration of a fixed term of service shall be made by the appropriate institutional faculty and administrative officers early enough to permit timely notice to be given. For full-time faculty at the rank of instructor, assistant professor, associate professor, or professor, the minimum requirement for timely notice shall be as follows:
a. during the first year of service at the institution, the faculty member shall be given not less than 90 calendar days' notice before the employment contract expires; and
b. during the second year of continuous service at the institution, the faculty member shall be given not less than 180 calendar days' notice before the employment contract expires; and
c. after two or more years of continuous service at the institution, the faculty member shall be given not less than 12 months' notice before the employment contract expires.

Notice of reappointment or non-reappointment shall be written. If the decision is not to reappoint, then failure to give timely notice of non-reappointment will oblige the chancellor thereafter to offer a terminal appointment of one academic year.

Any special terms and conditions shall be clearly stated in the written appointment. Except as herein provided, no special terms or conditions may be included that vary from the general terms and conditions stated herein. The responsibility for initiating the inclusion of special terms and conditions in documents of appointment is with the department chair and the academic dean who recommended the appointment. However, nothing shall prohibit the provost/vice chancellor for academic affairs or the chancellor from initiating the inclusion of these special terms or conditions.

5.4.2 Continued Availability of Special Funding

The appointment, reappointment, or promotion of a faculty member to a position funded in whole or in substantial part from sources other than continuing state budget funds or permanent trust funds shall specify in writing that the continuance of the faculty member's services, whether for a specified term or for tenure, shall be contingent upon the continuing availability of such funds. This contingency shall not be included in a faculty member's contract for a promotion to a higher rank if, before the effective date of that promotion, the faculty member held tenure and no such condition was attached to the tenure.

5.4.3 Provisions for Less than Full-Time Employment

Special terms for less than full-time employment (less than .75 FTE) with commensurate compensation, or relief from all employment obligations for a specified period, may be included in an appointment or reappointment to any faculty rank or may be added by a written memorandum of amendment during the term of an appointment. Such special terms must be expressly stated in initial appointment documents or, if added by an amendment, must be approved by signature of the chancellor or the provost as his or her designee and the faculty member, with a copy to be retained by each (300.2.1). These provisions do not apply to informal temporary adjustments of the regularly assigned duties of faculty members by the department chair or academic dean who are responsible for their direct supervision, or to the University's granting of extended leaves of absence with or without compensation.

5.4.4 Extensions of Time
The chancellor or the chancellor’s designee (the Provost / Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs) may grant an untenured faculty member with the rank of assistant professor or associate professor an extension of the time period during which the institutional decision must be made regarding reappointment or conferral of tenure. An extension of time may be granted only in documented cases of compelling circumstances that are determined to have the potential to significantly delay the progress of development of the faculty member’s program. The normal extension is one year; however, other extensions may be approved in exceptional cases. Approval of an extension must be in writing and will extend the current appointment. A faculty member must request an extension in writing to the provost/vice chancellor for academic affairs.

Extensions of the period of a current probationary term of appointment due to conditions related to health, or requirements of childbirth or childcare, or similar compelling reasons, may be added. Such special terms must be expressly stated in initial appointment documents or, if added by an amendment, must be approved by signature of the chancellor or the provost as his or her designee and the faculty member or their power of attorney, with a copy to be retained by each.

5.4.5 Resignation
A faculty member who has decided to resign from ECSU shall give prompt written notice of his or her resignation with its effective date to the department chair, with copies to the academic dean, the provost and the chancellor. A professor or associate professor should give not less than 120 calendar days’ notice and an assistant professor should give not less than 90 calendar days' notice of resignation.
5.4.6 Due Process Before Discharge or The Imposition of Serious Sanctions

In accordance with The Code, a faculty member who is the beneficiary of institutional guarantees of tenure shall enjoy protection against unjust and arbitrary application of disciplinary penalties. During the period of such guarantees the faculty member may be discharged from employment, suspended, or demoted in rank for reasons of:

1. incompetence, including significant, sustained unsatisfactory performance after the faculty member has been given an opportunity to remedy such performance and fails to do so within a reasonable time;
2. neglect of duty, including sustained failure to meet assigned classes or to perform other significant faculty professional obligations; or
3. misconduct of such a nature as to indicate that the individual is unfit to continue as a member of the faculty, including violations of professional ethics, mistreatment of students or other employees, research misconduct, financial fraud, criminal, or other illegal, inappropriate or unethical conduct.

To justify serious disciplinary action, such misconduct should be either sufficiently related to a faculty member’s academic responsibilities as to disqualify the individual from effective performance of university duties, or sufficiently serious as to adversely reflect on the individual’s honesty, trustworthiness or fitness to be a faculty member.

These sanctions may be imposed only in accordance with the procedures prescribed in this section. For purposes of this policy, a faculty member serving a stated term shall be regarded as having tenure until the end of that term. These procedures shall not apply to non-reappointment or termination of employment.

A. The provost/vice chancellor for academic affairs shall send the faculty member a written notice of intention to discharge the faculty member or impose a serious sanction together with a written specification of reasons. The notice and specification of reasons shall be sent by a method of mail or delivery that requires a signature for delivery. The statement shall include notice of the faculty member’s right, upon request, to a hearing by the Faculty Hearing Committee, an elected standing faculty committee on hearings.
B. Within 14 calendar days after receiving the notice and written specifications, the faculty member may request a hearing before the Faculty Hearing Committee. The request for a hearing must be in writing, be addressed to the chairperson of the Faculty Hearing Committee, with a copy to the chancellor, and be mailed by certified mail, return receipt requested, or by another means that provides proof of delivery. If within 14 calendar days after receiving the notice and written specifications, the faculty member makes no written request for a hearing, the faculty member may be discharged, or serious action imposed without recourse to any institutional grievance or appellate procedure.

C. If the faculty member makes a timely written request for a hearing, the chancellor shall ensure a process is in place so that the hearing is timely accorded before an elected standing committee of ECSU’s faculty. The hearing shall be on the written specification of reasons for the intended discharge or imposition of a serious sanction. The Hearing Committee shall accord the faculty member 30 calendar days from the time it receives the faculty member’s written request for a hearing to prepare a defense. The Hearing Committee may, upon the faculty member’s written request and for good cause, extend this time by written notice to the faculty member. The Hearing Committee will ordinarily endeavor to complete the hearing within 90 calendar days except under unusual circumstances such as when a hearing request is received during official university breaks and holidays and despite reasonable efforts the Hearing Committee cannot be assembled.

1. Conduct of Hearing
   a. The hearing shall be conducted informally and shall be closed to the public unless the faculty member and the hearing committee agree that it may be open;
   b. The faculty member shall have the right: to counsel, to present testimony of witnesses and other evidence, to confront and cross-examine adverse witnesses, to examine all documents and other adverse demonstrative evidence, and to make argument;
   c. The provost/vice chancellor for academic affairs, or designee, and/or counsel, may participate in the hearing to present testimony of witnesses and other evidence, to cross-examine witnesses, to examine all documents and other evidence and to make argument;
d. A written transcript of all proceedings shall be kept; upon request, a copy thereof shall be furnished to the faculty member at ECSU’s expense.
e. In reaching decisions on which its written recommendations to the chancellor shall be based, the committee shall consider only the evidence presented at the hearing and such written or oral arguments as the committee, in its discretion, may allow;
f. All witnesses may be questioned by the members of the committee;
g. Except as herein provided the conduct of the hearing shall be under the control of the committee chairperson;
h. A quorum, for purposes of conducting a hearing shall be a simple majority of the committee’s total membership;
i. No one shall serve on a hearing panel who holds an appointment in the faculty member’s department, participated directly in the decision to discharge or sanction the faculty member or has any other conflict of interest.

2. Hearing Procedure
a. The committee chairperson shall call a hearing to order;
b. Following the chairperson’s opening statement, the provost/vice chancellor for academic affairs, or designee, and/or counsel, may participate in the hearing to present evidence, cross-examine witnesses, and make argument;
c. After the conclusion of the presentation by the provost/vice chancellor for academic affairs, or designee, and/or counsel, the faculty member shall be allowed to make a rebuttal presentation supported by such testimonial or documentary proofs as he/she desires to offer, including his/her own testimony;
d. At the conclusion of the rebuttal presentation, each side shall have an opportunity to make a final summary statement;
e. At the conclusion of the presentations and summary statements, if any, the committee chairperson shall end the hearing;
f. The burden of proof shall be on ECSU;
g. In evaluating the evidence, the committee shall use the standard of “clear and convincing” evidence in determining whether ECSU has met its burden of showing the permissible grounds for serious sanction exist and are the basis for the recommended action;
h. The committee shall make its written recommendations to the Chancellor within 14 calendar days after its hearing concludes or after the full transcript is received, whichever is later.

If the Chancellor concurs in a recommendation of the committee that is favorable to the faculty member, the chancellor’s decision shall be final. If the chancellor either declines to accept a committee recommendation that is favorable to the faculty member or concurs in a committee recommendation that is unfavorable to the faculty member, the faculty member may appeal the chancellor’s decision to the board of trustees. This appeal shall be transmitted through the chancellor and be addressed to the chair of the board. Notice of appeal shall be filed within 14 calendar days after the faculty member receives the chancellor’s decision. The appeal to the board of trustees shall be decided by the full board of trustees. However, the Board may delegate the duty of conducting a hearing to a standing or ad hoc committee of at least three members. The board of trustees, or its committee, shall consider the appeal on the written transcript of hearings held by the faculty hearing committee, but it may, in its discretion, hear such other evidence as it deems necessary. The board of trustees’ decision shall be made as soon as reasonably possible after the chancellor has received the faculty member’s request for an appeal to the trustees. This decision shall be final except that the faculty member may, within 14 calendar days after receiving the trustees decision, file a written notice of appeal, by certified mail, return receipt requested, or by another means that provides proof of delivery, with the Board of Governors if the faculty member alleges that one or more specified provisions of the Code of the University of North Carolina have been violated. Any such appeal to the Board of Governors shall be transmitted through the president.

When a faculty member has been notified of ECSU’s intention to discharge the faculty member, the chancellor may reassign the individual to other duties or suspend the individual at any time until a final decision concerning discharge has been reached by the procedures described herein. Suspension shall be exceptional and shall be with full pay.

5.4.7 Termination of Faculty Employment

A. Reasons Justifying Termination and Consultation Required

The employment of any faculty member may be terminated by ECSU because of (1) demonstrable, bona fide institutional financial exigency or (2) major curtailment or elimination of teaching, research, or public service programs. Financial exigency is defined as a decline in institutional enrollment or by other actions or events that compel a reduction in the institution’s operations budget. The determination of whether a condition of financial exigency exists or whether there shall be a major curtailment or elimination of teaching, research, or public service programs shall be made by the chancellor, after consultation with the academic administrative officers and faculties are required by Section 5.A.2 below. This determination is subject to concurrence by the president of the University of North Carolina and then approval by the Board of Governors. If the financial curtailment or elimination of program is such that the institution's contractual obligation to a faculty member cannot be met, the employment of the faulty member may be terminated in accordance with the institutional procedures set out in Section 5.B below.

When it appears that the institution will experience an institutional financial exigency or when it is considering a major curtailment in or elimination of teaching, research, or public service program, the chancellor shall first seek the advice and recommendations of the academic administrative officers, department chairpersons and faculties of the schools or other units that might be affected. In cases of financial exigency, the chancellor shall appoint an ad hoc committee made up of the provost/vice chancellor for academic affairs, the department chairpersons, and at least one faulty member from each affected department. The faculty representatives on the ad hoc committee shall be elected by their respective departments. The chancellor shall formulate a plan, after receiving the advice of the ad hoc committee, subject to the approval of the Board of Trustees, the president of the University of North Carolina and the Board of Governors.

B. Termination Procedure

1. Consideration in Determining Whose Employment is To Be Terminated
In determining which faculty members’ employment is to be terminated for the reasons set forth in Section 5.A above, consideration shall be given to tenure status, to years of service to the institution, and to other factors deemed relevant, but the primary consideration shall be the maintenance of a sound and balanced educational program that is consistent with the functions and responsibilities of the institution.

2. Timely Notice of Termination

When a faculty member’s employment is to be terminated because of major curtailment or elimination of a teaching, research, or public service program that is not founded upon financial exigency, the faculty member shall be given timely notice.

5.4.8 Retirement of Faculty

Faculty may retire in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 135 of the North Carolina General Statutes. Faculty members may also be eligible for the Phased Retirement Program (ECSU Policy 300.2.8.1 [G]).

5.6 ELIZABETH CITY STATE UNIVERSITY PHASED RETIREMENT POLICY

The University of North Carolina Phased Retirement Program (the "Program") provides an opportunity for eligible full-time tenured faculty members to make an orderly transition to retirement through half-time (or equivalent) service for a predetermined period in return for half-time compensation. The goals of the Program are to promote renewal of the professoriate in order to ensure institutional vitality and to provide additional flexibility and support for individual faculty members who are nearing retirement. The Program is completely voluntary and is available when agreed to and entered into by a mutual written agreement between an Eligible Faculty Member and her or his employing institution.

Enrolling Eligible Faculty Members may elect annually to seek to participate in the Program during the enrollment life of the Program, with active participation to commence with the start of the next academic year next following acceptance by the Eligible Faculty Member’s employing institution. Enrolling Eligible Faculty Members may elect to begin receiving the benefits they have accrued under either the N.C. Teachers' and State Employees' Retirement System ("TSERS") or the UNC Optional Retirement Program (the "ORP"), but they are not required to do so. However, so long as an Eligible Faculty Member does not receive a monthly retirement benefit, he or she will not receive university paid State Health Plan benefits.

5.6.1 Number of Eligible Faculty who can Participate in the Program

Due to the overall size of the total faculty at Elizabeth City State University, each department will be limited to considering only one faculty member per year to participate in the ECSU Phased Retirement Program. The Program is available to all full-time tenured faculty members who:

- Have at least five years of full-time service at Elizabeth City State University;
- Are age 62 or older for members of TSERS or 59 ½ or older for participants in the ORP;
- Are eligible to receive retirement benefits through either TSERS or the ORP, as applicable.
5.6.2 Participation based on Preservation of Academic Quality
Elizabeth City State University reserves the right to limit the number of eligible faculty who can participate in the Program based on preservation of academic quality. Factors which may require limitations on participation include:
- a shortage of professors in a department or school;
- required number of faculty necessary for the department or institution to operate;
- student/faculty ratios, etc.
These factors will not be based in any way on age or the expected retirement of specific faculty members. The limitation with respect to preservation of academic quality of the institution and/or a department or school will be applied consistently to all eligible faculty timely seeking to commence enrollment in the Program the same fall semester.

5.6.3 Limitations because of Financial Exigencies
Elizabeth City State University reserves the right to deny an applicant to participate in the program due to financial exigencies, as declared pursuant to Section 605A of the Code. Information pertaining to the budget constraints which prohibit participation and to the means to determine that such exigencies exist will be disseminated to the entire campus as soon as they become known. The limitation with respect to constraints of financial exigencies of ECSU and/or a department or school will be applied consistently to all eligible faculty timely seeking to commence enrollment in the Program the same fall semester.

5.6.4 Number of Years Participants may remain on Phased Retirement
Faculty participation in the Phased Retirement Plan at Elizabeth City State University shall be three years for each participant. Participation in the Program may not be extended or renewed beyond completion of those years.

5.6.5 Institutional Measures to inform Faculty of the Program
The Provost / Vice Chancellor of Academic Affairs will notify in writing, no earlier than September 1 of the preceding year, those tenured faculty who appear to meet the age and service requirements for eligibility on or before August 1. Such faculty will be sent a “Letter to Eligible Faculty” announcing the Phased Retirement Program” along with the following program materials:

- UNC Policy 300.7.2 (UNC Phased Retirement Policy)
- Elizabeth City State University Phased Retirement Program Guidelines
- Elizabeth City State University/Phased Retirement Application and Reemployment Release
- Elizabeth City State University/Program General Release
- List of individuals, by faculty rank, who appear eligible or ineligible to participate in the Program.

A notice will also be placed in the faculty newsletter and all the documents related to Phased Retirement will be posted at a web site created for that purpose. Program materials will be sent every September 1 to those tenured faculty who appear to qualify for participation by the following August 1. Elizabeth City State University will schedule ongoing information sessions for Eligible Faculty Members coordinated by designated Program officials. Program officials will schedule at least one information session per semester for each academic year. This is designed to fully inform those faculty members who become eligible.

5.6.6 Procedures used to accept, review, and approve applications

Eligible Faculty Members should arrange to meet with their departmental/division chairs and to discuss their interest in participating in the Phased Retirement Program. During these initial meetings, Eligible Faculty Members should discuss their intent to participate in the Program, the potential limits on participation for faculty members in the department, the formal application process, and other program-related issues.

Assuming that Elizabeth City State University’s departmental limit has not been met, such faculty members should discuss with their chairs the initial details of their half-time work plan. Once a preliminary half-time work plan has been agreed upon, based on departmental needs and schedules, the details of the plan are to be submitted to the Office of the Provost / Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs by the chair for preparation of:

- the official ECSU Phased Retirement Application and Reemployment Agreement, and
- the General Release.
Duplicate copies of these two documents will be sent to the faculty member for review and signature. Once executed by University officials, one copy of Elizabeth City State University Phased Retirement Application and Reemployment Agreement and the General Release will be returned to the faculty member within ten (10) days of being signed by the Provost / Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs and one copy will be maintained on file in the Office of the Provost / Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs.

A faculty member will have at least forty-five days to return the duplicate copies of the signed Agreement and the Release. Elizabeth City State University of North Carolina Phased Retirement Application and Reemployment Agreement and Release must be reviewed and signed by the faculty member, the chair, and the Provost / Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs.

Faculty members electing to participate in the Program have the right to revoke the Agreement and Release anytime within seven calendar days of the date of the Release is signed by the faculty member. An election to participate in the Program does not become final until after the seven-day period. If the Agreement and Release are revoked, the Agreement is void.

Applications for participation in the Phased Retirement Program from Eligible Faculty Members will be accepted on a first-come first-served basis until the departmental limit is reached. If a department receives more applications for the program than it has available spaces due to the limit, then eligibility will be determined based on institutional seniority; that is, the faculty member with the most institutional seniority will have priority to participate in the Program.

5.6.7 Half-time work plan for the Institution
The activities appropriate for consideration in the development of an eligible Faculty Member’s half–time work plan covers the range of typical activities in which the faculty member has been engaged throughout his or her career. Such activities include teaching, research and creative activities, service, advising, writing of grants, publications, etc. In general, assuming a campus-wide teaching load for full-time tenure-track faculty to be twelve (12) credit hours per semester, the standard half-time work plan should include a combination of activities listed below (to total 50%):
• three (3) to six (6) credit hours of instruction 25-50%, at the undergraduate and/or graduate level;
• research activity 0-25%;
• faculty members who are engaged in funded research activity will be allowed to reduce their teaching load by one course through released time;
• continue to serve as PI/Co-PI of ongoing research grant(s);
• academic advisor or committee member for graduate student (MS) thesis research (pending);
• publications/presentations: faculty members will continue to be encouraged to publish their research results and to present their work at national/international meetings;
• other departmental activities, including 0-25%;
• academic advisor to approximately 50% of normal undergraduate/graduate advisee assignment;
• committee assignments at department or university level;
• participation in public service-related activities;
• participation in professional society-related activities.

The percentage of time in which an Eligible Faculty Member will be involved in activities in items (b) and (c) will depend upon the level of time commitment agreed upon between the faculty member and the appropriate university administrator, i.e. department/division chair.

5.7 UNIVERSITY OFFICERS AUTHORIZED TO ANSWER QUESTIONS ABOUT THE PROGRAM
The Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs, the Director of Human Resources, and the Human Resources Benefits Coordinator are the authorized university officers.

5.8 SUMMARY: ELIZABETH CITY STATE UNIVERSITY PHASED RETIREMENT PROGRAM

5.8. Eligibility and Approval
The Program contemplates actual retirement and reemployment of participating faculty on a part-time basis for a limited period. For purposes of the Program, "normal retirement age" is 62 years of age for TSERS members and 59 ½ for participants in the ORP. When a faculty member has achieved the above-listed age for his or her applicable participating retirement program, he or she will have reached "normal retirement age" and, therefore, need not undertake a break in service prior to entering the Program.

Tenured faculty occupying full-time administrative positions are not eligible to participate in the Program until they vacate such positions. Thus, only individuals under faculty appointment involving teaching, research and service are eligible to participate in the Program.

Individual faculty members are responsible for providing to their Institution all information necessary for it to determine their eligibility as to age, service at the Institution, and retirement benefit eligibility within either TSERS or the ORP. For these purposes, the Institution shall determine an applicant's age and service longevity with reference to the August 1 that follows submission of an application for participation.

Eligible Faculty Members may elect to enter the Program for the number of years specified by the Institution for its entire participating faculty.

5.8.3 Terms and Conditions

Phased retirement under the Program may be for a period of at least one but not greater than five years. Each Institution will set the length of phased retirement for its faculty. All Eligible Faculty Members at each Institution will have the same participation period of phased retirement.

Upon entering the Program, Eligible Faculty Members give up tenure. They terminate full-time employment and contract for a period of half-time (or equivalent) service to their Institution. Half-time responsibilities may vary by Institution and among departments in the same Institution. In addition, half-time service may consist of full-time work for one-half of a year (e.g., full-time work for one semester of an academic year) or half-time work for a year (e.g., half-time work in each of the two semesters of an academic year).

The enrollment period for the Program begins with the fall semester, with actual participation to commence at the start of the next academic year (provided an Eligible Faculty Member’s application is approved). Teaching, research and service assignments during the period of phased retirement are individually negotiated by the Eligible Faculty Member and the appropriate supervisors and/or personnel committee(s). The details of such half-time service (a "work plan") must then be set forth in a University of North Carolina Phased Retirement Program Application and Reemployment Agreement (the "Agreement").

In conjunction with the Agreement to be executed under the Program, an Eligible Faculty Member must also execute a waiver of rights and claims under the Age Discrimination in Employment Act (the "ADEA") and other laws (the "Release").

Participating Faculty Members initially receive a salary equal to fifty percent (50%) of the full-time salary they received immediately prior to phased retirement (e.g., based on the Faculty Member's prior nine- or twelve-month contractual term, as applicable). In addition, compensation paid during phased retirement is paid over 12 months irrespective of the pattern of duties under the Faculty Member's work plan. Subject to any limitations imposed under the State Retirement System and the legislative appropriations process, Participating Faculty Members are eligible for salary increases and merit pay in subsequent years of Program participation based on annual evaluations.

Participating Faculty Members will remain subject to The Code and Policies of The University of North Carolina and their respective campus. In addition, without expressly or constructively terminating any Agreement, an Institution may place a Participating Faculty Member on temporary leave with pay and/or reassign a Participating Faculty Member's duties during or as a result of any investigation or disciplinary action involving the Participating Faculty Member. Such authority shall be invoked only in exceptional circumstances when the Participating Faculty Member's department or division head determines that such action is in the best interests of the Institution. Further, nothing in the Program or these guidelines shall in any way be interpreted to provide a Participating Faculty Member with greater rights, claims or privileges against his or her Institution and/or the University regarding continued employment than otherwise provided in The Code and Policies of the University and their respective campus.

Eligible Faculty Members who elect into the Program will retain their professorial rank and the full range of responsibilities, rights, and general benefits associated with it, except for tenured status or as otherwise modified pursuant to an Eligible Faculty Member’s agreed-to "work plan."
(The Institution, however, will keep records of participation so as to note those faculty who are in phased retirement.)

Eligible Faculty Members participating in the Program are eligible to participate in the following employee benefit plans or programs:

- Social Security and Medicare tax,
- Life Insurance,
- Federal and state income tax,
- After-Tax Dental Insurance,
- Workers’ Compensation,
- Credit Union Deductions,
- Liability Insurance
- Leave / Colonial
- State Health Plan
- Investor’s Consolidated
- NC Flex Benefits
- AFLAC /Pre-Paid Legal Services
- Voluntary Supplemental Retirement
- College Foundation of NC

5.8.4 General Provisions

Nothing in the Program precludes a participating faculty member from terminating his or her phased retirement at any time upon the mutual agreement of the parties. Eligible Faculty Members participating in the Program do not enjoy the benefits of tenure. They may not serve on committees that require members be tenured. Otherwise, participants have the same academic freedoms and responsibilities as other faculty members and have access to all grievance and appeal procedures available to non-tenured members of the faculty who are not participating in the Program. Participating faculty members are expected to maintain high levels of professional commitment to their Institution.

3. “In addition to insuring the establishment of a council or senate, the Chancellor shall ensure the establishment of appropriate procedure within the institution to provide members of the faculty the means to give advice with respect to questions of academic policy and instructional governance, with particular emphasis upon matters of curriculum, degree requirements, instructional standards, and grading criteria.
